7TH WAR LOAN APPROACHES SET QUOTA

The 7th War Loan Bond Drive is approaching the quota but is not going over like the previous campaigns, according to Co-Chairmen Dan Reib and C. L. Alspaugh.

The quota is $160,000 for individuals, with $154,400 subscribed, and a plea is made that more E Bonds be purchased, in the amount of $10,000 at least. The corporations have met their quota of $20,000, making a total of $174,400 out of the minimum quota of $180,000 requested.

Mrs. Wheeler's 6th and 7th grade classes presented the school with a beautiful silk California flag to be placed on the stage of the auditorium, and a check for $80 was given by the 8th grade to be used in purchasing flood lights for the auditorium stage.

Assemblyman Knight Returns to His Home

The NEWS acknowledges the courtesy of T. Fenton Knight, member of the Assembly from this district in the State Legislature, who called this office this morning after returning to his home in La Canada at the conclusion of the session.

"One thing was clearly demonstrated," he said, "that the members of the Legislature are not a rubber stamp for the Governor but settle their own problems. The Governor's tax problem advocating holding it to a level not to exceed the one of two years ago, was approved 100 per cent. Another recommendation of the Governor, the health program, was rejected 100 per cent, while the third item was rejected, voicing disapproval of any subventions to cities and counties but granting 100 millions to cities and counties, with certain conditions, for the post-war period to alleviate unemployment.

He spoke highly of the calibre of the legislators and said the new men showed up well, particularly A. I. Stewart of Pasadena and Monte Burk of Alhambra.

The Rehabilitation Interim committee, of which Mr. Knight was chairman, has been renewed for another two years and will function to co-ordinate civic activities to the needs of returning servicemen.

8th Grade Picture Sent Grandparents in Switzerland

Two copies of the Sierra Madre News of last week are on their way to Winterthur, Switzerland, where two grandparents will have an opportunity to see their offspring in the 8th grade class picture taken on the lawn in front of the school building. The characters interested are Mrs. Louise Friedrich, grandmother of Chas. Wuergler, son of the Chas. Wuerglers of S. Sunnyside; the other, J. Gutherz, whose grandson is Elmer Gutherz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Gutherz of W. Sierra Madre Blvd. It seems that the Wuergler and Gutherz families have been friends in Switzerland for many generations.

D. M. Gilmore Hurt in Auto Collision

D. M. Gilmore, our local taxi driver, is temporarily out of commission, having been injured in an auto collision Sunday. He was returning from Chantry Flats on Big Santa Anita Canyon Rd. and met two cars going up, on the sharp curve, a mile up from the Ranger station. The car driven by Jack E. Hart, 18 years, 126 Lowell, was on the inside and struck the Gilmore car head on. Young Hart and his companion, Miss Elaine Enright of Alhambra, escaped with minor injuries, but Mr. Gilmore was badly bruised on the left arm, both knees, cut across the nose and he struck the steering wheel so hard the wheel was broken. He was injured severely in the chest. His car was also quite seriously damaged.

Thomas Miller Jr. has been filling in as taxi driver temporarily.

Serves Navy as Famous Ancestor

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Dodge of this city are receiving some very interesting mail from their son-in-law, Lt. Lawrence E. Perry, flight commander on one of the largest Navy carriers. Lt. Perry met the Dodge daughter, Margaret, when both were attending the University of Michigan, from where Lt. Perry enlisted immediately after Pearl Harbor, falling in the line of duty with his famed ancestor, Commodore Oliver H. Perry of whom he is the great-great grandson. Lt. Perry has many ribbons to his credit. He was instrumental in getting supplies into Guadalcanal and incidentally he appeared in one of the scenes in the picture, the "Fighting Lady." Mrs. Perry is doing her share in the war program, a technical position in Detroit.

Youthful Artist Presents Delightful Program at Studio Musicale

Miss Barbara Bowman, 14-year-old pianist, entertained a group of appreciative listeners, fellow pupils and many invited guests, with a charming program Saturday night at the home of her teacher, Mrs. George Morgridge, on W. Orange Grove.

The young artist presented her program in three groups, classic, romantic and modern, preceding each with intelligent explanatory remarks. The classic period included Prelude and Fugue in C minor from Bach's Well Tempered Clavichord, and the C minor Sonata, Opus 10, No. 1, by Beethoven. For the romantic period Miss Bowman played Nocturne in B major, Opus 32, No. 1, by Chopin; Valse, Opus 64, No. 1, by Chopin, and Concert Etude in D flat by Liszt. The moderns were represented by Clair de Lune, and General Lavine, by Debussy, and Malaguena by Ernesto Lecuona. Encore numbers were Polichinelle by Rachmaninoff, and Juba Dance by Dett.

This program, which would have been taxing to many a more mature pianist, was rendered with technique and musicianship which delighted even those hearers of most critical judgment. Barbara has already shown the ability, all too rare in instrumentalists, to share with her listeners the deep feeling for the music which she herself enjoys.

Barbara and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Bowman, shared in the congratulations when it was announced that in addition to making substantial musical progress she had completed her first year high school with an all-A scholastic record. A social period followed the program, with refreshments served by Mrs. Morgridge.

Military Funeral Rites at Sawtelle

Robert C. Hemingray, a resident of Sierra Madre until two years ago, passed away suddenly Tuesday about noontime. He with Mrs. Hemingray drove from their home, 615½ Mission St., South Pasadena, to this city to consult the family physician. Mrs. Hemingray, leaving her husband in the car while she made arrangements in the doctor's office, returned to find he had passed away, apparently fallen asleep. Mr. Hemingray, 67, has lived in the State 17 years and was formerly a salesman. A military funeral will be held at the Sawtelle cemetery, 10 a.m., Friday, conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, of which he was a member of the local post.

Sgt. Dot Haddock St. Germain-en-laye Ceremony in France

SAINT GERMAIN-EN-LAYE, FRANCE.—In the shadow of a picturesque 11th century chateau once occupied by Louis XIV, Sgt. Dorothy K. Haddock, 162 E. Alegria, and hundreds of her sister Wac soldiers passed in review to climax an impressive ceremony celebrating the third anniversary of the Women's Army Corps.

Passing the reviewing stand, Sgt. Haddock turned "eyes right" to Gen. Carl Spaatz, Commanding General of the U.S. Strategic Air Forces in Europe, who took the salute. Ranged in the background were hundreds of French civilians, who were seeing American women soldiers on parade for the first time. Flags of the United Nations snapped in the afternoon sun, and American aircraft wheeled overhead to round out the colorful scene.

Sgt. Haddock is a stenographer at Air Technical Service Command headquarters.

Summer Bible School of Bethany July 9-27

Those in charge of arrangements for the summer Bible school have received so many inquiries from parents of children, who realize the value of Bible teaching beginning at an early age, is a native son, and has also July 9 to 27.

Wm. E. Gladstone (the grand old man) said, "No person is really educated who hasn't a working knowledge of the Bible."

Fined for Filing a False Police Report

James F. McLellan, 1636 Silver Oak Terrace, Eagle Rock, reported that his automobile had been stolen from Woodland Dr. and Sunnyside Lane during the previous night. The car was found abandoned in Arcadia, after having been implicated in a collision with a parked car.

The police contended that McLellan and a friend, Irving Ingram of Sierra Madre, had been in the car at the time of the accident and abandoned it there and that he had cooked up the story of the car being stolen to avoid any complications in regard to the accident.

McLellan was charged with filing a false report with the local police department and was given a fine of $25 or 12½ days in jail by City Judge Noren Eaton. He paid the fine.

TWO BUS LINES SEEK TO OPERATE IN SIERRA MADRE AND OTHER VALLEY CITIES

Another bus line seeking to operate between Pasadena and the Monrovia - Arcadia - Sierra Madre area, has entered the picture, it was disclosed today, with the filing of an application with the State Railroad commission by the San Gabriel Valley Transit Lines, Inc., of which J. Donald Atkins of Pasadena is president.

Pasadena City Lines has already sought permission for post-war bus service between Pasadena and Monrovia and Arcadia and the Pacific Electric proposes to extend its Los Angeles-Alhambra motor coach line to Arcadia where it would connect with the Pasadena City Lines' Pasadena-Monrovia line.

In its application to the State Railroad commission the San Gabriel Valley Transit Lines declared:

"The people of these communities are asking for the lines herein applied for, to give them the service which they need.

"Residents of Arcadia, Monrovia, Temple City, El Monte, Sierra Madre, La Canada, Montrose, San Gabriel, San Marino and Alhambra have no direct, easy, frequent transportation service with Pasadena, except by transfer and round-about journey. There is no service between Monrovia and Temple City, nor Monrovia and El Monte."

The seven routes, to provide half-hourly and hourly service, sought in the application are:

Pasadena-Monrovia line; Pasadena-Temple City-El Monte; Altadena-Pasadena - Alhambra; Pasadena-San Marino, San Gabriel; Monrovia - Arcadia - Temple City; Monrovia-El Monte, and Sierra Madre-Arcadia-La Canada.

These lines would be inaugurated, Mr. Watkins announced today, within 90 days after lifting of Office of Defense Transportation wartime restrictions if the Railroad commission grants the franchise.

Local Nurseryman's Rites Held Friday

Ralph Roy Russell passed away yesterday at his home, 192 N. Mountain Trail. Mr. Russell, a native son of California, born at Porterville 61 years ago, has been in poor health for several years. His life had been devoted to his great interest in the Nursery field through which he met his wife, Mrs. Jessie Ward Russell, by whom he is survived. He has been a resident of Sierra Madre the past 20 years. He has a daughter, Mrs. Clarence Morrison, and five grandchildren at Sacramento.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Friday at the Grant chapel, with Dr. A. O. Pritchard officiating. Interment will be at the Sierra Madre cemetery.

New Store to Open in Sierra Madre

The store building at 45 N. Baldwin, formerly occupied by the Bundles for America organization, and the back part for storage by the Bowman Furniture, is being remodeled by the owner, Mrs. Ada Oswald of South Pasadena, and will be made into a modern store building.

It will be occupied by Fred Miller, 257 E. Montecito, who plans to handle electrical appliances and sporting goods. Mr. Miller is at present with the Arnold O. Beckman Co. of South Pasadena.

State Militia Full Strength at Once

All units of the California State Guard have been ordered to be brought up to full authorized strength by Brig. Gen. Victor R. Hansen, the Adjutant General.

The capabilities of Jap balloon-bombs, as recently announced by military authorities, obviously increase the war-time possibilities of local disaster and emergencies.

The State Guard has been assigned special local security responsibilities by the Army in addition to their regular function of assisting authorities in any emergency beyond local control.

In the urgent order to all unit commanders, Gen. Hansen pointed to depletion of many units through loss of personnel to the Armed Forces or changed working hours in war plants adversely affecting the Guardsmen's two-hour drill one night a week.

The campaign to bring the State Guard up to full authorized strength of approximately 12,000 men, aims at establishment of additional battalions in San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles and San Diego, with added personnel for the 209 units of the 13 regiments throughout the State.

Any man in the world learns to believe anything in the world if he wants to badly enough. Never an exception.

"Million Dollar Open House" for Bond Buyers

Calship will open its gates to all comers on Sunday, July 1, for a "Million Dollar Open House." There is only one stickler: Each and every person entering must buy a War Bond.

The mile-long shipyard, wartime builder of more than 400 big ships, expects a crowd at Wilmington.

From Calship's entrance gates on Dock St. to its outfitting berths in Cerritos Channel, and from the Calship carpenter shop at the extreme west end of the shipyard to the huge shipways and pre-fabrication shops at the east end near the hulking Terminal Island drawbridge, the big-top circus spirit will prevail. Gates of the yard will open at noon and close at 6 p.m.

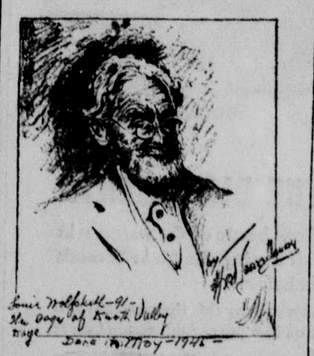

HE NEVER LOST A BEE; LOS ANGELES LITTLE TOWN AROUND THE PLAZA

Sierra Madre has an interesting character in the person of Louis W. Wolfskill, living at the J. J. Wyscocki Rest Home, 405 Churchill Rd. He is 91 years of age, is a native son, and always has lived in California. Why not, he asks. California has good climate, good people, good food, good drink.

He has had many interesting experiences. He loves to tell of driving a 20-mule borax team in Death Valley for years. Death Valley isn't very hot, he says, only about 134. His greatest exploit was driving a swarm of bees across the desert, he says, and he boasts that he never lost a bee.

In spite of his age, Mr. Wolfskill is in marvelous possession of his faculties. He sees and hears well, has everything except good sense, he asserts. He walks down the mountain every day and makes his headquarters largely in Joe Russell's real estate office and Joe takes him up home as the day wears on.

He has always been a hard worker, driving stage, ranching, freighting between Los Angeles and San Bernardino. He lived in Los Angeles 70 years. That city was just a little Mex town, he says, when he went there, built around the Plaza, at Sunset and N. Main. The Avilla family owned the most pretentious place, an adobe home which is now used as a show house on Olvera St.

He has never been farther north than Portland but once made a business trip to Louisiana, Arkansas, Mexico, Indian Territory (now Oklahoma), etc.

Mr. Wolfskill has a keen sense of humor, enjoys life—in fact he says no man enjoys life more than he. He has good health, never lost a day from sickness. A sister, Mrs. Lillian Weiss, resides at 111 E. Montecito, but she's just a kid, he says.

New Technique Saves Plants From Transplanting Shock

For Fast Transplanting, Have Tools and Materials Handy.

To move a growing plant from one location to another always causes a shock, and checks growth for a time. This shock can be minimized by simple precautions, without which all the advantage of starting the plant early might be lost.

Mistreated plants do not always die; they may live as cripples, failing to produce a crop of normal size and quality. Those most likely to survive in full vigor are grown in flower pots or plant bands, which allow them to be moved to the garden without disturbing the soil around their roots.

But plants with bare roots can be set out with small loss by the proper method. The quicker they are set out, after being lifted from the flat, or bed in which they were started, the better. If you grow your own, carry the flat to the garden. Purchased plants should have damp moss wrapped around their roots, and be planted as quickly as possible.

First dig a hole large and deep enough to contain the plant roots; then mix with the soil at the bottom of the hole a level tablespoonful of plant food, and throw in a handful of soil above this.

Experiments have shown that all plants benefit by a starter solution, applied directly to their roots, if the roots are bare. The Victory gardener may prepare this solution by mixing four ounces of Victory garden fertilizer, 4-12-4, in a quart of water the day before setting out the plants. When ready to transplant, pour this quart into a pail and add nine quarts of water to complete the solution. Set the plant in the hole which has been prepared, pour one-half cup of the starter solution over the roots, then pack soil about the roots to complete the operation.

In the case of pot plants, and those grown in plant bands, pour the starter solution on the soil near the plant after it has been set, and the hole filled in.

Plants should be set a little deeper in the garden than they stood in the flat or pot. Compact the soil about the roots, so there is close contact without air pockets.

Tomato plants which have grown too tall should be set as deep as necessary to shorten the height above ground. Deep set plants survive drouths better, and are less likely to be injured by the wind.

A cloudy day is good for transplanting; and if it must be done under a hot sun, paper tents used to shade the plants for a few hours are beneficial. It is no longer considered desirable to prune the top of the plant or remove any leaves, unless they wither. Adjustment to the new home will come more quickly if more leaves are retained.

These Vegetables Give a Harvest for Many Years

Perennial vegetables produce a prodigious amount of food, yet require very little care. Moreover, they are not supersensitive as to environment. Some thrive in shade, and all share a habit of persistent growth. Once established only an earthquake will uproot them.

Success for the amateur is greater than with annual types because perennials are grown from clumps, divisions or roots in which food is stored, which sustains the plant until new growth takes hold.

Rhubarb does well in the shade. It has been cultivated in America for two hundred years. If the temperature drops below 27 degrees Fahrenheit, the tops of growing plants may suffer some injury, but the roots are completely hardy. Stems turn pink at low temperatures, and green as the thermometer rises. The plants should be harvested lightly the first year, after planting.

Rhubarb prefers a sandy soil, well enriched with plant food. For best results manure should be incorporated with the soil prior to planting.

Rhubarb is propagated by root divisions which should be set three to four inches deep in rows four to six feet apart. The plants should be three feet or more apart in the rows. The leaves of this plant spread out creating an attractive specimen.

The artichoke should prove welcome in Victory gardens. Although it may not be killed by freezing it does best when not subject to frost. It feels at home along the coast, and fog seems to help the plant grow to perfection. Extremely hot weather causes the buds to open, marring the quality of the crop.

Fresh asparagus is always a real treat and when grown at home will produce a real gardening thrill. The plants should be set eighteen inches apart along the bottom of a trench from ten to twelve inches deep. As the plants take hold the soil is filled in until level with the surface. Take your time in this job, spreading it over several months. The irrigation ditches must parallel the plant rows a little distance away. At no time should water be allowed to flood the plants. Both the Paradise and Mary Washington types will prove worthwhile.

NEW RAILROAD EQUIPMENT

Orders for more than $2,500,000 worth of Diesel-electric passenger locomotives were placed jointly this week by the Union Pacific, Chicago and Northwestern and Southern Pacific railroads.

The new passenger equipment will be used largely between Chicago and the Pacific Coast. The equipment consists of multiple-unit power plants which will permit longer trains and faster service.

To the People of this Community

Even if the war ended this very moment you still would be doing the best thing for yourself and your family by investing the biggest amount in War Bonds today you have ever saved for future spending.

From a strictly self-interest viewpoint you cannot afford to fritter away war wages in a market of scarce goods. New autos, new homes, new appliances, new radios, will not be coming off production lines instantly the last shot is fired by one of your tired relatives or friends. War Bonds will make wonderful peace-time ammunition when they mature $4 for every $3 you store away now.

P. S. Just to bring you out of that postwar dream, take another look at the headlines. There's still a war on. You and your money are needed to beat the Japs. The bonds you buy today are WAR bonds. There'll be time 10 years hence for you to think of them as PEACE BONDS.

SIERRA MADRE NEWS

ADV. SUPPLEMENT — SIERRA MADRE, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA — BUSINESS REVIEW

G. AND L. DRIVE-IN

The G. & L. Drive In is located in Pasadena at 848 E. Green St. Although Jerry Futhey, the owner, is still in service, this place of business is still giving the best of service. The Pantry, their other popular cafe, is located at 2259 E. Colorado St. and is equally popular.
The service is unexcelled and the prices pleasingly satisfactory.

This cafe is recognized as a social center for motorists and the traveling public in general. It is also known as headquarters for good food.

The management, while visiting the market, will not buy nor accept anything inferior in the line of food. This, coupled with the fact that they employ only trained cooks of more than ordinary ability, insures the choicest foods properly cooked.

The culinary department has been provided with the most modern equipment and utensils and everything is kept scrupulously clean, thoroughly in compliance with the sanitary laws.

And last, but not least, the attention and courtesy of the attendants is a feature that receives more than passing notice from the patrons.

From their extensive display of foods one may indulge in his or her own favorite delicacies and dishes, getting as large or small portion as you wish.

At this establishment can be seen patrons from every walk of life who make this popular establishment their downtown eating place.

Their specious quarters are elegantly appointed, with ventilation in compliance with the laws of health, and lighted with a brilliancy that brightens every corner. The surroundings are comfortable, convenient and very pleasing.

In this entire section there is not another establishment that surpasses this well known eating place in service and satisfaction.

They are particularly well equipped for proper handling of of foods and also for their display to the best advantage of their patrons.

A strong feature and one that has aided them most in forging to the front is their system of having all food during their particular season, or when the public desires it the most.

This is strictly a very modern, up-to-date establishment throughout. The capable manager has made special efforts to conduct a real sanitary cafe.

In making this annual business review of the commercial and social life of the city and vicinity, we are pleased to give this cafe commendable mention for the high character of their service and the leading position they occupy. 114

HUMPHREYS STUDIO

This studio is located in Pasadena at 60 S. Los Robles.

Like the old violin maker, they prefer to do fewer jobs and make each one a masterpiece. "Quality and service at reasonable prices" is their motto.

When this studio started business they were thoroughly convinced that the public cares as much for quality as price. With that belief behind them "quality first" was the motto.

They were right. The public does want quality—you want quality in whatever you buy. And because they have constantly kept this fact in mind this studio is recognized today as the best in this section.

A personal invitation is extended to all those interested in the better class of work. No matter what has been your past experience, they offer you a service that is different. When you visit this studio you will see for yourself just what they mean by quality and service.

It is the attention which they give to the little details as well as the big points that not only gives their work the greatest utility possible but adds also a touch of distinction which no other has equalled.

The fact that they have existed and thrived in face of the bitter competition they have had to meet is proof sufficient that their work has always been of the very highest quality. Their many satisfied customers are all the advertisement they need.

This studio is well thought of in the city and has always shown a progressive spirit and has done their share in making this city a progressive and better community in which to live. We unhesitatingly recommend this firm to all our readers. 214

They have won a warm place in the hearts of the public through the excellent work they have executed in every branch of the cleaning business. The thinking public has come to understand that when work goes to this firm it is executed according to their reliable methods and a satisfactory job is certain.

They have always taken an active interest in the development of the country and are known as among our foremost citizens. 325

R. R. MOORE PONTIAC CO.

This Co. is located in Pasadena at 115 E. Foothill Blvd.

This firm features complete repair service to auto owners and the fact that they render a complete service for automobilists makes their establishment the repair shop of good service in this section.

One of the centers of activity that is visited by autoists from this section of the country is this very popular shop by reason of its very accomodating policy and wide popularity.

This shop is conveniently located and commodious enough to look after the local patrons and the traveling public as well.

When this firm started in business they determined to furnish service to every automobile owner and there is no question but that they have succeeded.

In the repair department they have in charge able and efficient workmen and being backed by vast facilities which enable them to rebuild, replace or repair any automobile no matter what the trouble may be in a most saatisfactory manner.

It can readily be seen that this firm is very important and adds materially to the advantage of every owner of an automobile. The fact that visitors and local patrons can get real service at this up to date institution instills in the mind of the automobilist confidence in the fact that all his troubles can be taken care of in a "Most Workmanlike Manner."

We know of no concern more fully equipped or better prepared from the point of workmanship to be able to turn out work of class for its reasonableness of charge and for getting it done when promised. 106

This photo shop is located in Arcadia at 290 E. Foothill. High school portraits a specialty.

Stop and look over the colleciton of photographs of local people. Photographs tell the story and live forever.

The days of the renaissance mark the beginning of modern art and in the various branches it has progressed to a marked degree. De Guerre obtained his inspiration for the invention of photography from the works of the masters of the period and at once combined art and mechanical science.

This photographer is a deep student and admirer of the artists of all the various periods and keeps thoroughly abreast of the times in the rapid development of photography. They have equipped the studio from time to time to keep pace with the rapid changes of the age of mechanics, but in all the work can be traced to the eye of the artist and the careful touch that makes it individual and different from that of the photographer who depends upon the camera alone.

They feature a complete service in portraits. Here in this studio can be seen many photographs of the leading pioneers and residents of the county, as well as the brides of the season, the graduates, the children, the reunion pictures and in fact everything in the range of artistic photography.

In the aristic production of childrens portraits they have gained well merited commendation. In the matter of doing the very finest portrait work they have ably demonstrated ability on many occasions. They have an excellent display, including the photographs of well-known people of this community.

It is incumbent upon every man, woman and child to have photographs of themselves at the various ages so that the photographic record of the family can be maintained.

We are pleased to compliment this studio upon their successful career in the art circles of this part of the state and refer this studio to all our readers. 26

VERNA'S BEAUTY SHOP

She understands when it is necessary to recondition the hair before a satisfactory permanent wave may be attained. She treats sick hair—hair that is faded, dull and dry looking. In order to insure a good, lasting permanent with a natural looking wave, it is often necessary to treat the hair and scalp. GLASSER AND JOHNS CHAPEL AND MORTUARY

THE FRIENDLY CHAPEL OF THE FOOTHILLS

They are located in Arcadia at 500 S 1st.

There is no vocation requiring for its successful prosecution a greater natural aptitude than that of the modern funeral director and this particularly applies to these well known representatives of this valued profession. Through untiring efforts and commendable methods they have progressed from a modest beginning until today they possess a clientele that extends over many miles of territory.

As is generally known this Mortuary is recognized as among the most proficient and conscientious firms in this line in this section and this distinction is well merited, as the excellent service that they render in the practice of the profession will testify. It may be truly said that no one in this section engaged in the arduous profession of which they are able exponents has given their profession closer study or is better equipped from every standpoint to carry out all of the work attendant upon the calling.

They have provided a modern funeral establishment, which is not only an accommodation to those in apartments and small homes, but is one of the most elegant establishments of this kind in this part of the state. It is in accord with the latest and most metropolitan plan of diplomatic service for it has become the accepted system in the metropolitan centers for people even in the most palatial homes to make use of such perfectly appointed funeral homes as this one.

They have gained the name as reliable funeral directors which is not confined to the city alone, but extends throughout this and adjoining territory. It is eminently proper in this review of the community today that we give this mortuary special mention as among our highly esteemed and useful citizens, who, in the successful practice of this useful profession have gained the good will of all who have dealings with them. 70

CALDWELL'S RESTAURANT

Caldwell's Restaurant is located in Pasadena at 902 E. Huntington. They closed on June 4 but will reopen to the public on July 3rd.

Seldom does one find such a nice clean place to eat. Once is enough to convince the most critical that here is a cafe that answers all the qualifications for an up-to-date place. You will notice immediately that the tables, silverware and linen are spic and span. Everything about it suggests good food.

Of course there is a reason for everything and this is no exception to the rule. The management has had years of experience in this line and naturally knows more about this sort of business than one just starting out. Where to get the food, what kind to buy and how much to pay are a few of the things that a manager must be well schooled in so his experience will be passed on to his many customers in the form of good food.

There is a friendly atmosphere which you will notice immediately upon entering the place. The food may be excellent but if the surroundings are not pleasant what might have been a good meal is spoiled. One can always be sure of a friendly greeting and if there might be a suggestion the management will be only too glad to listen to your ideas and try to better the place in any way possible.

All these things add up to one conclusion: the next time you are in town shopping, drop in this cafe and have a bite to eat and you will see what we mean when we say this is a first class place. We are glad to have the opportunity to tell our many readers of such a fine cafe. 108

SHERWOOD GUEST HOUSE

ELDERLY PEOPLE

This rest home is located in Monrovia at 227 N. Myrtle and is owned and operated by Carolyn Fox Blakemore.

There are few towns in California that have such a rest home as this. In the first place, the location is splendid for those desiring a complete rest. There is plenty of sunshine and the surroundings are such that those who are staying there are given that certain lift so necessary for those seeking the perfect rest.

The food is prepared with the idea of giving the most in vitamins. It is served in such a way, however, that it gives one an appetite to look at it.

The management has had many years experience in this line and therefore has a better understanding of how a place like this should be conducted. The best of attention is given to all the people entrusted to them. The idea is to make those that are staying there feel as though they are in their own home. This is not an easy thing to do, and because the management has been so successful they are to be congratulated.

This place is not only well known in this section, but for many miles around. Many people come to California from the east and find this place has everything they have ever wanted. It is no wonder then that it has become so famous.

In this review we take pleasure in recommending them to all our readers. The next time you are around this district, drop in and look the place over. The management will be only too glad to explain all the details. 91

AMERICAN HEROES

by JULIAN OLLENDORFF

Although he realized that an enemy submarine was close at hand and his U. S. destroyer would leave him in the event of attack, Fireman, First Class, David Jack Stephenson, U. S. C. G. R., of Clendenin, Va., went over the side to rescue three men in a small raft. He swam to the raft and fastened lines around the survivors. Stephenson was cited for his heroic performance. The ropes, raft and destroyer were paid for out of War Bond funds.

This service is backed by a reputation honorably earned. It is the result of good workmanship by men of recognized skill along these lines. Experienced automobile mechanics are employed to insure you the best in riding comfort.

An automobile is only a machine. A machine will not run forever without some repairs. So every one of you car owners at some time or other must seek a reliable repair man to put your car in order.

You can drive your car in this garage where they will repair it in every detail. This is a class of service that comprises every phase of automobile repairing successfully accomplished by skilled workmen of this garage.

It makes no difference what make of car you may be driving or what reputation it may have for service and for sturdibility, the years of service obtained from it has depended largely upon the care that has been taken of it and the class of service it received in the hands of mechanics.

The careful motorist will not wait until he has a breakdown to bring his car in for inspection, but will at the end of 500 miles or less have the car oiled, greased, and carefully inspected for any trouble.

If every motorist could only know the greater mileage obtained with his or her car when properly greased and oiled and parts adjusted say every 500 miles, everyone would save money by patronizing this efficient garage. Ordinarily you are careful the first three months with your car—why not keep it up the life of the car?

This shop is on the job at all hours of the day. The autoist receives here quick and efficient service in the face of any mishap. 191

Did you ever hear of a soldier getting too much mail? Neither did we. There just isn't any suc hthing. And it is well to bear that fact in mind.

Mail from home is just as important as food, ammunition and guns. If the men "out there" or "over there" don't hear from their families regularly, they get worried—and worried soldiers can't fight as well as those who are frequently reassured that all is well back home. Even when a fighting man must be told that things aren't so well, it is better for him to know it than to hear nothing at all. One should be very sure, however, that unpleasant news is something which the serviceman should know before writing it.

You may have heard of the group of American soldiers who were surrounded by the Japs. Word got through that the mail had just arrived in camp. The Japs were killed in the rush of those boys to get their mail. Yes, it does sound like a tall story, but it brings out the point that our men in service "go" for mail as they do for nothing else.

So write often. Short letters sent frequently are better than lengthy ones written only occasionally.

If we do the writing, they will do the fighting. Certainly that isn't asking too much of us.

OAK TEA ROOM

The cooking is personaly supervised by Mrs. Jordan herself, in their ultra clean place of business at 556 Foothill Blvd., in Pasadena.

Out of a great number of people from this part of the state who make frequent visits to town, we venture to say that not 10 per cent are informed of the locations of the good places they see. If it happens not to be a good cafe, and that kind are not rare, what otherwise might have been a pleasant trip is spoiled.

Having been a patron of this cafe, the writer feels that he is qualified to settle the food problem satisfactorily for everyone.

The food is prepared in that good old homey style so that thought at once comes that there never was such a good place to eat. Poor restaurants with a fine front are not the exception, so it is a real pleasure when one finds the pleasing and most palatable of foods served in such attractive surroundings that he feels like telling everyone of his find.

The manager has had a successful career in the catering business, but he is not content to rest on his laurels. He is striving at all times to give the patrons just a little better in service and appointments.

You cannnot but note the attractive surroundings, the soft lights, the cleanliness everywhere. The cleanliness is of first importance and extends equally to every department in the minds of most of us an attractive restaurant and high class foods are associated with high prices. The prices at this restaurant are very modest, in fact not as high as many inferior places, and when one considers the wide variety of tasty foods the comparison ends.

The cafe is an ideal place for our ladies who make shopping trips to the city, not only on account of the many dainties but because of the nearness to the hotels, theaters and shopping districts. Every courtesy is appreciated. With the people of this community this institution is very popular, of course.

On your next trip to the city try this restaurant on our suggestion and we believe you will thank us for this little hint. 52

RANCH HOUSE

This popular place is located in Pasadena at 2770 E. Foothill Blvd. They specialize in clubs, parties and banquets. Also the Cocktail Cottage, where the finest in both domestic and foreign drinks are served.

This is the place to get that well needed change of atmosphere—when you're downtown shopping, drop in for a cocktail or glass of beer. This is definitely a place to relax and is one of the best places to eat in this section and merits the large patronage it receives, for it is one of the cleanest, most sanitary, serving palatable foods, to be found in the state. Very popular with the traveling public as well as the city and adjacent territory.

This up-to-date place has gained a name that has spread far and wide as a place where the local and traveling public can more than satisfy their demands The menu consists of not only the prime necessities of life, but many delicacies are offered to the taste of the most fastidious.

Cleanliness is one of the outstanding features of this modern cafe and is not confined to the tables and the silverware that is brought to the attention of everyone, but extends to the kitchen where the dishes are all sterilized and those places only frequented by the management and assistants.

The food is prepared in such a way that to the uninitiated the thought at once comes that there never was such a good place to eat. Poor cafes are not the exception and it is a pleasure to have such a modern and up-to-date place to refer to traveling patrons, as well as local people.

The proprietor has made a special study of the restaurant business, and consequently is striving to give the people something just a little better at all times. They have arranged their place so that it is very attractive and insist that the service be kept prompt and courteous.

We take great pleasure in complimenting this cafe upon the high order of the establishment and refer it to our readers without hesitation. 222

Do I know any NEWS? Well, now let me see . . .
Oh, yes—our VACATION! But good gracious me,
Don't dare put THAT in the paper,
my dear;
There's some things the Ration

Have I had any dinners? Given a lunch?
Why, yes—but oh my, there's that odd Mrs. Scrunch!
If she should get word that she
She'd go in a really TERRIBLE pout.

Oh, say, by the way—now don't breathe a word—
But in March I'm expecting the long-legged bird!
Why, of COURSE the girls will
me a shower;
But heavens, don't PRINT it My husband would GLOWER.

And isn't it awful about Mazie
Snorst?
You haven't HEARD? Why, she's getting divorced;
In the PAPER? Oh no, I wouldn't do THAT;
I promised I'd keep it under my hat.

Well, bye now, dear, and a word of advice.
I hope you won't think I'm not very nice
But—your paper—Now don't say
I'm choosey.
But, honestly, dear, it just isn't

In this day and age the modern grocery store is more than just a grocery store. It is a service station where one hundred and one articles of every description can be had for the household. When you buy it at this grocery you save money. Why? For the well-known fact that a grocery store operates on a smaller margin of profit than any other line of business. This local grocery is one of the vital elements in the health and prosperity of this section. Their motto is "Service and Quality First," so the next time you are tempted to send to distant cities for your supplies, just stop to think, when you spend your money that far away it is used to develop the distant cities and makes your property less valuable. Money spent at home tends to create the community spirit and a percentage of this dollar thus spent will actually come back to you in some form or another.

This grocery is under able and efficient management. They see that their stocks are replete at all times with food supplies that every housewife asks for and needs. Nationally known brands are carried, together with those of local manufacture. If it can be had at all, you will find it at this grocery.

GEM CITY AUTO WRECKING & SUPPLY CO.

The Gem City Auto Wrecking & Supply Co. is located in Monrovia at 221 W. Duarte Road.

When this well known firm started in business they determined to handle automobile supplies and replacement parts. They know these lines thoroughly and have arranged to offer the best. But they did not stop there, for this firm was indeed wise in their business and appreciated the necessity to furnish the trade with service second to none and the success of their enterprise since they have been in business testifies to the wisdom of their course.

Scientific selling must be born of scientific knowledge, and when you consult this house you receive this information without expense.

Automobile supplies and replacement parts is their business; they know this line from A to Z.

They are prepared to give you all information regarding them, and they consider it a part of their business to serve in this manner. When you seek information from them you don't get a curt or hurried reply. A courteous response with comprehensive knowledge is returned to every request and you are not obligated in any way, merely because you ask questions.

Such is the policy of this establishment, and it has brought them business from every point. Both old and new customers are urged to use the telephone when they find that more convenient and if an order is given it is shipped on the same day it is received.

We are glad to compliment them on their extensive and complete line of supplies.

Because they sell at reasonable prices makes it possible for garages to secure not only what they actually have to have, but also afford that which they would like to have for comfort and convenience of their patrons. 98

Our compafiny was firing for record on the rifle range. Weather conditions were at their worst; flurries of snow and sleet blown diagonally across the line of fire by a gusty wind prevented even those with superior skill from compiling a decent score.

But one private seemed little dismayed by the elements. Hatfield was from the southern hills and like his forebears, who had disagreed with the McCoys, he was keen of eye and as tough as they come. When his turn came, an officer was startled to notice that Hatfield made a bull's-eye every time. Sauntering over to where Hatfield was still methodically putting them through the black, he patted him on the back and said, "Nice shooting, young man."

"Shucks, suh," Hatfield replied, "tain't nothin' to it. This thing's got sights on it."—Reader's digest.

The Frog TALKS about ROBERTS MARKET and Things!

"Petits Pois a La Francaise," says The Green Frog.

You didn't know that The Green Frog could speak French, did you? He not only speaks it, but reads it ... and all the cook books printed. Recently it was Major Chamberlain's "Clementine in the Kitchen," which appeared first in "Gourmet" magazine and was then put into a complete book. Clementine was the cook for the Chamberlain family when they lived in France, before World War II. She was everything you imagine your Dream Cook to be. And then some! Every dish she made was perfect. Even snails! Among them we selected "Petits Pois a la Francaise" . . . "peas in a bed of lettuce."

Shell about 3 pounds of fresh peas and place in a heavy iron or earthen pot on a bed of 5 or 6 green lettuce leaves. Add a small pinch of thyme, 4 small white onions (or two large ones cut in half), 2 tablespoons of water, salt and pepper, 1 level teaspoon of sugar and 1 heaping tablespoon of butter. Cover tightly and cook over a low fire until the peas are done and still moist. There should be no water left in the bottom of the pot.

When you want the answers . . . ask The Green Frog!

SHORTCOOK! says The Green Frog.

Saves Time, Labor, Vitamins, Minerals and Flavor. Preserves Texture, Shape and Color.

Use only ½ cup of water for each cup of vegetables. First let the water boil briskly. Keep flame high. Drop vegetables in pan and cover quickly with a close-fitting lid. Cook for exactly four minutes. Just before removing vegetables, add your choice of fresh or dried herbs for seasoning. Salt when completely cooked.

When you remove the lid, there should be little or no water left. If there is very much water remaining, try using a little less water the next time.) The flavor and vitamins are still in the vegetables. No more soggy, washed-out vegetables. What you have is crisp, tender, colorful and tasty little gems the like of which you may well be proud.

Treat fresh and frozen vegetables the same. The following may be "short-cooked:" Asparagus, green beans, beets, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery root, corn on the cob, kohlrabi, mushrooms, mustard greens, oyster plant, parsnips, rutabagas, spinach, bean sprouts, turnips, turnip greens, okra, new potatoes, peas, Chinese peas, squash, brussel sprouts, tomatoes, Apples, cherries, figs,plums, peaches and berries.

Cucumbers, one of the foods included in offerings to the Egyptian Gods, are now plentiful . . . make lovely crisp, dainty sandwiches.

All melons are at their best.

"If you want the answers . . . ask The Green Frog!"

No drop but serves the slowly lifting tide;
No dew but has an errand to some flower;
No smallest star but sheds some helpful ray,
And man by man, each helping all the rest
Make the firm bulwark of the country's power.
There is no better way.

—no flash in the pan!

No—those figures were not made possible "over night." They are the result of many years of conscientious effort to provide a satisfactory transportation service for Southern Californians.

What do they mean? They mean that 150 million passengers were transported in 483 rail cars and 334 buses which traveled more than 33 million miles and that freight movements over Pacific Electric's 904 miles of track exceeded 8½ million loaded freight car miles in 1944.

They mean that more than 7000 Southern Californians, who participate in a monthly payroll in excess of $1,500,000, are fighting on the home front in Pacific Electric's vitally essential service.

They mean that throughout the years, Pacific Electric has planned and built its organization and its service in such a manner that it would not be found wanting if and when emergency arose.

They mean that now and in the years to come there will be this dependable and progressive transportation facility which will continue to contribute its full share to the growth and development of Southern California.

Keep More Combat Planes in the Air

Not much has been heard from Julian LaLone of late but word comes from Warrington, England, that V-E Day found T/Sgt LaLone of Sierra Madre on the job, helping to ready more combat planes and equipment for immediate action wherever they might be needed.

He is one of the crack Air Service Command team who pitched in to back the air assaults that helped knock Germany out of the war.

Commending their battle-backing efforts, Brig. Gen. Morris Berman, Commanding General of the Base Air Depot Area, Air Service Command, declared: "These soldiers of the Base Air Depot have, since their work began, dispatched 415,000 tons of air corps supplies, assembled and modified 12,000 combat planes, and repaired or overhauled more than 30,000 aircraft engines.

"Every soldier, whatever his job, contributed materially to the magnificent result. I commend them, and I know that whatever their next task, they will fulfill it with credit to themselves and their country."

FIRE FLAMES

Firebug Evidently Loose in Sierra Madre

After all the braggadocio resorted to by this column on the whole-hearted co-operation of the fire-minded citizens of Sierra Madre, we have all the evidence that we must have a pyromaniac in our midst. Watch for him. This is a serious offense. Two fire calls that were nothing more than palm trees touched off by someone who temporarily lost his balance. Surely a sane person would not risk the lives and property of their neighbors and friends. There is always the danger of fire escaping to regions beyond the immediate spot of ignition. And then there is the danger of auto accidents due to excitement caused by the fire alarm. A sane person would always think of these things. We must all make some effort to discourage any idea that to send in false alarms or light a fire intentionally is fun. IT IS NOT FUNNY! It may appear funny to see the outfits firemen and people wear to a fire, particularly if beyond bedtime. It isn't so funny when we stop to think that if a house is burning, it may be that party's life's savings going up in smoke. No, I can't see a sane person purposely lighting a fire to see it burn or to see the fire trucks run. Something wrong somewhere. The recent call gave Ralph Twedell an opportunity to experience what it is to jump from his bed in the firehouse and man the trucks. Although early in the evening, Ralph was in bed and sound asleep. A large bell over his bed rang at the first call. He jumped to the floor with much gusto.

It is with regret that we must repeat and repeat the necessity of being careful about outdoor fires. We must be particularly attentive to the actions of newcomers to our town who appear to be innocent of the danger of fire. If you are somewhat timid about approaching your new neighbor, please refer him to us at the fire department. We assure you that if he gets sore, it will not be at you, because we won't tell him you sent us, nor will we use such an attitude that he has reason to get peeved. Folks are most glad to know of the danger of fires. And after all, we do not have many fires here. Maybe there is a reason.

Only recently as Fred Lewis and Jim Heasley passed a certain district, a fire was just beginning to burst into high flames. The pile of dry grass and trimmings was, without exaggeration, about the size of an average sedan. Piled beneath a eucalyptus tree with branches hanging low, the flame would have reached the branches in just a few more seconds had not the firemen rushed there to apply the stream of water from a garden hose. The man—a newcomer and owner—did not realize until he had ignited the pile what a lot of trouble he was getting into. He was mighty thankful for the assistance and through this experience, is convinced that it doesn't pay to put a match to a large dry pile of trash. Such narrow escapes must be seen by most people to be appreciated.

The new fire truck is drawing much attention from the young fellows of the town. Some of them are so young that they fail to realize that to crawl aboard a shiny fender with sandy shoes is harmful to a large degree. Already, one of the fenders has a deep scratch from such an experience. Because the firemen are not at all times in attendance, such unfortunate incidents occur. Realizing the attraction of a new fire truck, the men of the fire department are patient with their fans.

It does not go without notice that those firemen who are owners of motorcycles are making good use of such vehicles at a time of fire call. It looks like the Hawks' outfit has gone in for motors very strongly. The outside of the place gives one the impression that it might be a motorcycle salesyard. Anyway, they are getting the bug. Here's hoping the girls over there will refrain from such a disease. To see "Cookie" or Melba astraddle a motor would be the last straw. We men might just as well give up. In the meantime let's keep the FIRES OUT.

PARKING PROBLEM

All-day parking on residential streets near business centers is a headache for the home owner, according to Automobile Club of Southern California engineering surveys. A line of cars continually parked in front of a house has the effect of lowering property value. One solution is for business centers to provide adequate off-street parking space.

Black Maria or Hearse

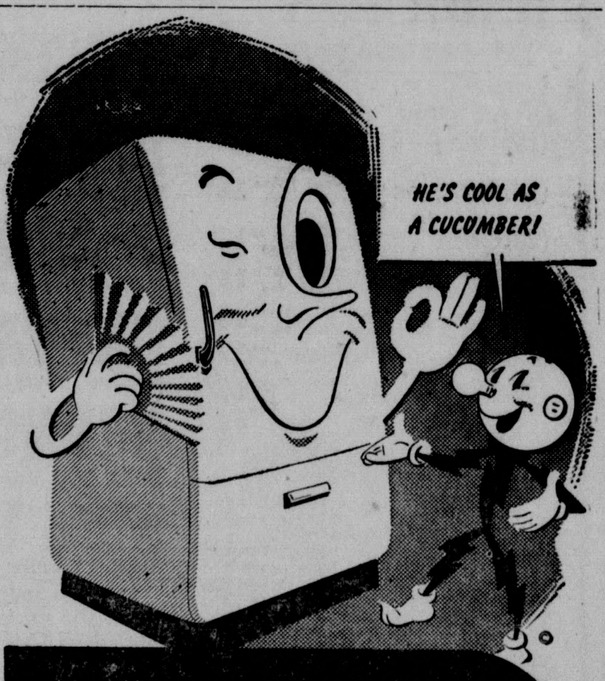

In our office is a picture map of Sierra Madre in the year 1889. It is Sierra Madre in swaddling clothes, but now a city grown to proportions of a full dress parade. Those were the days of cowpaths and high wheelers. Today, however, the sidewalk rider is a menace. Must we have another tragedy like the one at Lima Street before preventive official action is taken?

Parents: Do you realize that your home, your fortune, and your earnings are at stake should your son, riding the sidewalks, become involved in an accident?

Question: Why do we pursue a policy of laissez faire?

Unusual Gathering of Famous Generals

Coming to pay a secret visit to the neighbors of his childhood whom he had visited many times "over the back fence," Gen. George S. Patton Jr. last week walked up the steps of the Huntington Library in San Marino, unobserved by cheering crowds of photographers. The Huntington estate, adjoining the Patton estate, was familiar ground to the General whose father was a close friend of Henry E. Huntington, the founder of the library.

Within the library building there awaited the General a display of rare historical Army documents, gathered together for the impromptu visit from the library's manuscript vault. Manuscript orders to General George Washington from the Continental Congress and signed by John Hancock telling Washington of his duties as commander-in-chief, A little account-book kept by another General, Ulysses S. Grant, when he was a cadet at West Point, was exactly the same kind, Patton said, that he himself had used there. A draft of General Sherman's farewell address to his troops in his own handwriting was reminiscent to Patton of certain of his own recent admonitions to his troops.

Papers of Gen. Patton's family, now in the archives of the Huntington Library, were shown to the General: a copy of the reminiscences of his grandfather, Benjamin D. Wilson, pioneer settler who came to Los Angeles in 1841, and letters to and from the General's great-grandmother, grandmother, mother and aunt. Among the letters with which Gen. Patton was confronted, after 53 years, was a document in his own hand informing his aunt that he was "helping mama make butter this morning," and signed, "Your Little Georgie."

Ration Board Needs Help Badly

An urgent appeal was made today by the War Price and Rationing Board for volunteer help. At the present time, due to the new changes in B Book gasoline, truck renewals and heavy canning sugar applications, the Board is swamped with work. Anyone wishing to volunteer their services to this most essential community project war effort, please contact Dr. A. O. Pritchard by telephone and arrangements for transportation will be made.

MRS. AMERICA MEETS THE WAR

Have you noticed a richer flavor in the ice cream you've bought in the last couple of weeks? Here's why. During June, manufacturers were permitted by the War Food Administration to use 10 per cent more milk fat in making ice cream and frozen dairy foods. This doesn't mean unlimited production of ice cream. It's a temporary increase in milk fat quotas reflecting seasonally increased milk production during May and June.

Jenks Lake Y.M.C.A. Camp to Open Auspices of Santa Anita District

With only six more days to register, Sierra Madre still has places at Jenks Lake for 25 more boys. Camp dates are as follows: First period, June 27 to July 4; second period, July 4 to July 11. Registration is open to any boy who is 10 years old, or less than 18 years old. Registrations may be for either one of the two periods or both, if desired. Reports from the camp show that the lake is higher this year and with improved camp facilities (new water system, boats, etc.) this year's camp promises to be outstanding.

Bob Harlan and Paul Fancher will direct the camp again this year, assisted by an able corps of trained leaders and councillors. Hiking, swimming, boating, horseback riding, crafts, athletics, campfires, and, most important, fun will be in abundance.

Sierra Madre boys may register at the Gas Co., N. Baldwin Ave., with Mr. Huntsinger. The rate is $14 per week. As camp begins in one week, all registrations should be in by June 25 (Monday) to insure a place at camp.

Thirty years ago Mr. Tarr had the same "Golden Rule" that guides his business activities today. And true to form he gives to us the site upon which our new library will be built.

AROUND AND ABOUT

By EDWARD LLOYD VOORHEES

The COTE D'AZURE—Monte Carlo. The special express bus which made the trip between Nice and Monte Carlo in about an hour was very de luxe indeed. I remember the great cushiony-looking balloon tires, the deep, sloped seats upholstered in the finest of real leather, and the extra large plate-glass windows, features none of which I had yet at that time (1929) encountered in my travels in the U.S.A. Even the chauffeur was very spic and span, and though he drove like Jehu he always had everything under smooth control. As a boy I had been deeply impressed by the New Testament parable about the man whom the king caused to be thrown out of the wedding party because he was not wearing a "wedding garment." My light traveling wardrobe of one suitcase did not include even a dinner jacket! What to do? For did not all the movies, mystery stories and tales of "high life" at Monte Carlo indicate that all male habitues of the Casino appeared either in a white cravat and tails—or not at all?

However, my struggle was short and decisive. I donned my midnight-blue sack suit, black shoes and socks, soft white shirt and—triumph of subterfuge!—a black silk bow tie that really belonged with a dinner jacket, and sallied forth, like Mark Twain's Innocent Abroad, determined to get in or be thrown clear!

Of the three possible roads, the Grande Corniche, the coast road, and the Petite Corniche, I have not the slightest idea now which we took. But all of them have the reputation of affording a panorama of gardens, cliffs, villas, rocks, and sea unsurpassed in the world for beauty, and our route was just that. At length we turned up a hill and sharply to the left and there it was. A long, wide greensward dotted with formal beds of gorgeous flowers and at the end the towered Casino, now glowing with a sort of violet fluorescent light. It was a truly regal setting and facade, the Casino itself apparently twice the size of the one at San Remo which I had visited a few evenings earlier to see the place but not to learn the game.

It was early for play, and when I entered the large and sumptuously furnished anteroom it happened to be quite empty except for an attendant who came forward grandly with a smile and a perfect French bow from the waist. He was wearing a dinner jacket, and I observed him closely to detect any possible indication of his awareness of my lack of the "wedding garment." But without the flicker of so much as an eyelash he led me to the registry window and then over to a great ivory and gilt door, which he opened and with another bow launched me into a grand salon. I was now on my own.

It was a huge room, lighted by great crystal chandeliers which hung from the ceiling and it opened into another larger room. My memory of the colors is that rose and gold and crystal were everywhere, and that it possessed beauty in the true functional sense of warmth, self-confidence, a belief in the Goddess of Fortune, and the impulse to risk everything one had in his pocket to court her favor. Though not crowded, the rooms contained a rather large number of men and women, nearly but not all the men in evening dress—and I now realized that the summer season—and possibly some Americans—probably accounted for the lack of complete male conformity. But all the women were, of course, in evening gowns and very decollete. And—my eye!—what women in what gowns! Without going into details to the point of illustrating my inadequacy to describe women's dress, I remember that one slender blonde English beauty was very fetching in low-cut white satin with a great flashing pendant of diamonds. Or was it a piece of "costume jewelry?" If so, we need not blame it on "this degenerate age," for even in "the good old days" one reads that people used to sit about at brilliant soirees and speculate as to whether the jewels worn by such and such a belle or the grand dame of the evening were true or false—"paste" was the word then, I believe.

The voices of people conversing in groups seemed very soft in these very lofty and very long rooms—though they were only half as long as the half-mile length Hollywood still thinks it obligatory to represent them in motion pictures. More and more people were moving up to the gaming tables and here, where the tables were in action, scarcely a word was ever said by anyone. Being the complete novice at gambling, and the cautious kind, I had bought only a small pile of five-franc chips, and for several plays I merely watched the others, my heart pounding harder every minute as I contemplated the plunge I wanted to take and the chance of winning or losing on my first play. Finally, in a setup after everybody else had placed their chips I dropped a lone one on the number 18. It just chanced that I placed it on the line between the red and the black, and my five-franc chip was the only chip played on the 18.

I did not watch the whirling wheel in the center; I was near the end of the long table and I kept my eye on that five-franc No. 18. The next thing I knew the croupier was pushing a large pile of chips across the table to me—I think there were 25. My No. 18 had won everything on the table! In a daze, I nodded my thanks to the croupier, which he evidently took for some signal of which I was ignorant, and shoved one chip from my winnings back on No. 18. The wheel spun again, and again my No. 18 took all. And it happened the third time! Then I was really dizzy. A professor of mathematics to whom I afterward related my experience figured out that one's chances of drawing the same number three times in succession is one out of 200,000 against it . . . Who said Who takes care of fools and children? I played some more, lost, of course; had fun doing it, and got back to Nice with half my winnings from the three-times-18 strike. "Beginner's Luck?" Anyhow, I felt like a small-time "Forty-niner" for a whole week.

◆ Chandler Wilcox, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wilcox of Canyon Crest Dr., left Monday morning for Huntington Lake camp in the High Sierras, where he is to be assistant to the riding councillor for the season.

"She Saved My Sight . . ."

PRIVATE JOHN J. TAGGART, combat engineer from New York City

"I'm a booby trap expert, but even the experts get knocked off. I got mine in a preinvasion rehearsal in England. Someone blundered against a booby trap I was working on, and I got a piece of brass in my forehead and another in my left eye. They took me to an evacuation hospital, where an Army nurse gave me penicillin, stopped the bleeding, covered my eyes, and gave me pills to put me to sleep. But she did more than that; she saved my sight. Before I went to sleep I heard a medical officer commend her ingenuity. She had placed me flat in bed and propped my head in place by putting sandbags on either side so I couldn't move it. The doctor said she saved my sight because if I had moved my head, the piece of metal in my eye would have ripped my eye and they couldn't have saved it. I'll always remember that smiling nurse."

Stars and Bars

On the left sleeve of the uniform worn by passenger conductors, brakemen and flagmen are the insignia indicating length of service; a star for twenty-five years, a bar for each five years.

The proud possessors of "stars and bars" help to form the solid foundation of a railroad's personnel. Because of their intimate knowledge of operating rules, equipment and facilities...the many situations and problems they have met and solved...they are of tremendous assistance to younger men.

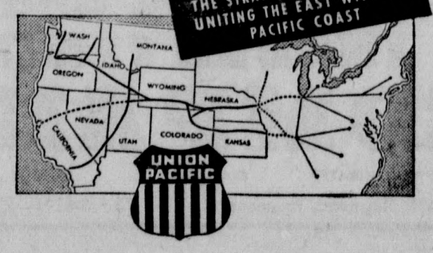

Among the 65,000 Union Pacific employes there are approximately 7,000 "old timers"—representing all departments—with twenty or more years of service. These experienced employes have, in a large measure, been responsible for the enviable record maintained by Union Pacific in the face of wartime conditions.

The transportation of many thousand trainloads of troops and materials over the Strategic Middle Route, uniting the East with the West Coast, calls for the wisdom and cool judgment of maturity coupled with the ambition and tireless energy of younger employes.

Union Pacific is proud of all its employes, regardless of length of service, for the job they are doing to help speed the hour of victory.

ROY ROGERS RODEO AT HOLLYWOOD SUNDAY

The only rodeo in the world which Hollywood "goes for" will be staged in the Coliseum next Sunday, June 24. It's the second annual Roy Rogers Rodeo, presented by the Southland sportsman, Walter E. Smith.

It's so big that both Hoot Gibson and Leo Carrillo, who have their own rodeos, are helping Rogers with his wildest gigantic.

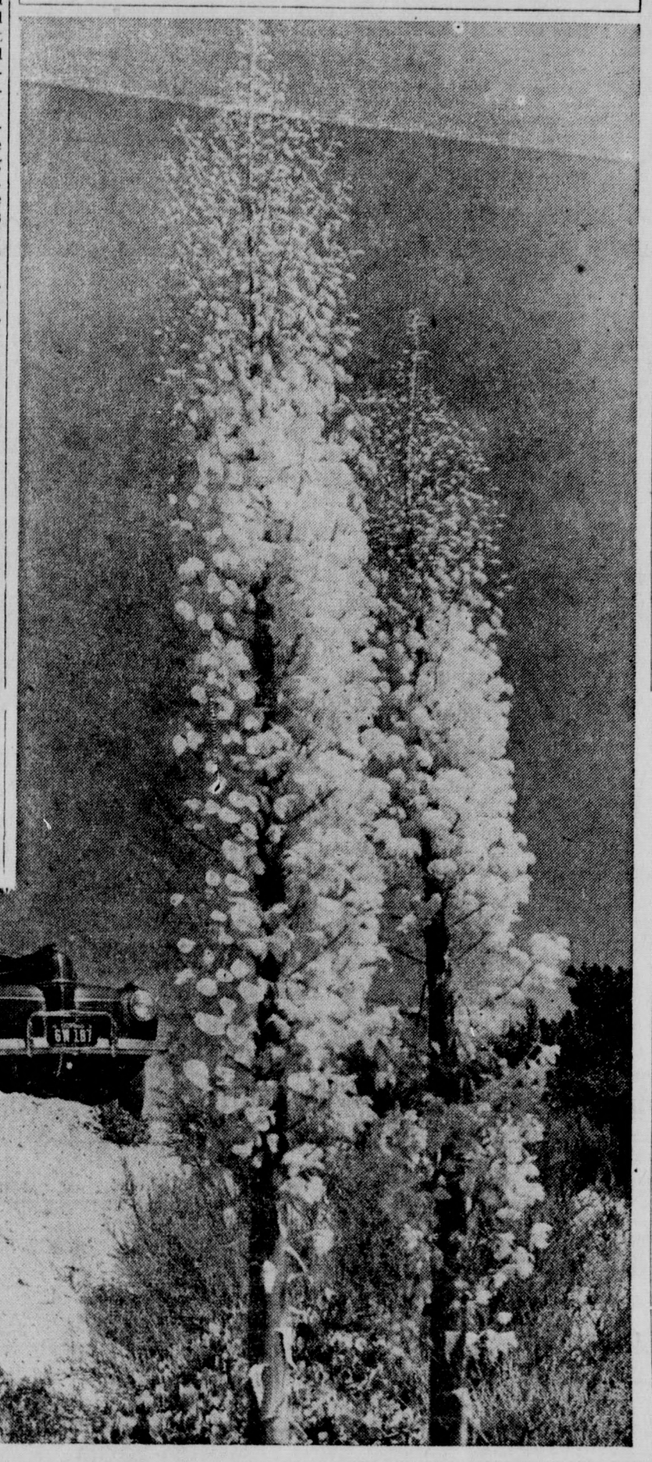

Other movie stars who will be in the event include Frances Langford, favorite of GI's all over the world; Dale Evans, who is Roy Rogers' leading lady; Michael O'Shea, Hunt Stromberg star who is Official Marshal; Wild Bill Elliott, Red Ryder of the movies, who will start the races. Then there is Tom Breneman of radio fame, who is Honorary Grand Marshal; Nils T. Granlund (NTG), who will help arrange the track events; and Abe Lefton, best rodeo announcer in the nation, who also is managing the show for Smith.

Richest prize money ever offered in the history of western rodeos is attracting the greatest stars of the wildest sport. Champions of practically every division have signed entry blanks to compete.

Because of the hordes of servicemen on leave every week end, Promoter Smith has announced a special 50c ticket for all men in uniform.

Other prices range from $1.25, $2.50 and $3.50. There will be 50,000 seats at $1.25. Tickets may be obtained at the Southern California Music Co., 737 S. Hill, Los Angeles, any Mutual agency or Tom Breneman's Restaurant in Hollywood.

Sentinels of the Mountains

How and why certain events transpire at uncanny times is a puzzle to most people. It was especially true when ye editor decided to use the picture "Sentinels of the Mountains." The cut was made in 1941 but is so apropos of the beauty seen looking toward the mountains from the streets of upper Sierra Madre it was chosen as a theme picture this week. We were scrutinizing the picture at the front desk yesterday and a fine gentleman walked into the News office and asked, "Where did you get my picture?" After the explanation, he revealed that he was an artist, Mr. Rogers of the Los Angeles Times. He told us how he and Mrs. Rogers, the lady in the car, were driving to Mt. Wilson four years ago and the display of white-blossomed yuccas was the inspiration for this amazing scene.

RAIN IS COMING TO BILTMORE THEATRE

When "Rain," which opens Monday, July 2, at the Biltmore theatre, Los Angeles, with Gladys George playing the role of Sadie Thompson, was first read by New York producers, they all thought it a terrific play but were afraid of the reactions of the clergy and the police.

The last one to read "Rain" was Sam Harris and he realized its great value and bought it for Jeanne Eagels, whom he had under contract.

The play opened in Philadelphia and received just mediocre reviews, so for eight weeks the writers doctored the script. The opening night in New York was such a big success that the critics claimed "Rain" as the dramatic sensation of the century. It broke all records in the two and a half years it ran on Broadway and since that time "Rain" has continued breaking records.

During the two weeks' engagement of "Rain" at the Biltmore, performances will be presented every night and one Saturday matinee at 2:30.

"SPRING AGAIN" AT PASADENA PLAYHOUSE

There was just one person the old Civil War general who hung over the fireplace could not conquer and that was Nell Carter. The Isobel Leighton-Bertram Bloch comedy from the 1943 Broadway season is at Pasadena Playhouse to June 24 to tell of the comic battlefield in the Carter house.

To Husband Halstead Carter his father's medals, his swords, his flags and his Civil War mementoes were the greater glory, but to Wife Nell they were cluttering up the hotel suite and her life. Counter-attack strategy comes as she turns General Father-in-Law's chapters into soap opera radio chapters.

In the meantime a daughter has to be taught a lesson, a grandchild's marriage has to be re-routed and Hollywood has to be given the cold shoulder. But the comic battle is the main issue, with ample laughing lend-lease from the radio scripts and their unaccountable source.

Frederick Blanchard and Peggy Noonan top the Playhouse company of "Spring Again," under Howard Graham's direction. Paul Maxey, Elizabeth Kerr, Earl Dawson, Hugh Bradford and Jeannette Stone play major roles.

RAT-A-TAT-TAT! Rat-a-tat-tat! That's the sound of the drum a beatin' in the parade, and once again it's Fourth of July. Flags wave in the hot breezes and most everybody celebrates in one way or another. However, it's still unpatriotic for elaborate parties, so this year let's have fun with a minimum of fuss and fanfare.

Nancy Holmes of the Best Foods' kitchens has planned a party menu that's as traditional as fireworks on the Fourth. Furthermore, it's adaptable because it can be served in the backyard, at a porch party or can be taken for a picnic in a nearby spot. A Drum Potato Salad upholds the spirit of the occasion as well as satisfies those hungry appetites.

Mix potatoes, onion, 1 cup real mayonnaise and seasonings together thoroughly. Mix 2 cups of the potato salad with 2 tablespoons real mayonnaise, hard cooked eggs and parsley. Unmold on salad greens. Garnish with pimiento stars on top. Fasten strips of pimiento on sides with toothpicks to imitate a drum. Yield: 12 servings. Resident of Coventry Learns How V-E Day was Observed

Tom Sumner, living at the Belle Vue Ct., brought his hometown newspaper (Coventry, England), published May 8, to this office. The paper was most interesting, for the world will not forget the toll that Coventry paid in civilian life in the 11-hour "Blitz" November 15, 1940, and secondary raids on April 8-10, 1941.

The Coventry newspaper bears the headline, "Coventry's Day of Rejoicing and of Remembrance, Decorations Hide City's Scars." Announcements such as "Tonight and tomorrow night there will be parties and bonfires and 'treats' in the streets for the children—reminiscent of Coronation Day."

Young Men May Now Go In Marine Corps

Young men, 17 years of age, may now enlist in the United States Marine Corps, according to Col. Frank P. Snow, Marine recruiting officer for Southern California.

"Young men who wish to serve their country with the fighting Leathernecks are urged to apply at the Los Angeles recruiting office, 215 W. Fifth St., or to the sergeants on duty in the post office building in Pasadena, Hollywood, Long Beach, Santa Monica, Inglewood or Bakersfield," he said.

How Bond Film Feature Talks By U. S. Leaders

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The War Finance Division of the U. S. Treasury has recently released a dramatic film, entitled "Mr. and Mrs. America," stressing the importance of War Bond ownership.

Early highlight of the film is a brief address by President Roosevelt who points out that 85,000,000 Americans have already invested billions of dollars in Bonds.

"Never before," states the President, "have so many people held such a direct share in a great national effort. To save—to buy and to hold all we can of War Bonds—this is a small service to ask of us who do not fight. Yet it is one of the biggest things we can do for our fighting men."

Following the President's speech, there is a series of quick cuts of battle action, followed by scenes of first aid, surgery, nursing, convalescence.

"Your War Bond has two sides," says a narrator, "One side fights the war, the other wins the peace . . . your own personal peace."

Philip Murray, President of the C.I.O., declares:

"The great Payroll Savings plan was introduced as a wartime measure to help finance the war and combat inflation. Few of us realized when it was first introduced that it also was a powerful instrument for winning the peace. Through a program of regular savings . . . men and women of America have an unprecedented opportunity to insure themselves of a substantial measure of security."

Next, William Green, President of the A.F.L., states:

"Men of labor know that in organization there is strength and the men and women of America are today organized in a vast War Bond army . . . If we remain united by buying and holding War Bonds until they mature, we shall be taking a great step toward that security we are all looking forward to in the future."

And then Eric Johnston, President of the Chamber of Commerce:

"It takes work and money—lots of it—to keep our giant industries operating at full steam. War Bonds you buy and hold account for a large part of that money today . . . War Bonds you buy today and hold for the future are vital stakes in our America-that-is and your America-to-be."

An important part of the movie is an address by Treasury Secretary Morgenthau who, describing the many advantages of E Bonds, makes this unequivocal statement:

"As Secretary of the Treasury, I can assure you that the Government will stand back of this Bond and fulfill every provision of it. It will be paid precisely and exactly according to the terms under which it was issued."

Gossip is a humming bird with eagle wings and a voice like a foghorn. It can be heard from Dan to Beersheba, and has caused more trouble than all the bedbugs, ticks, fleas, mosquitos, coyotes, grasshoppers, cinch bugs, rattlesnakes, sharks, sore toes, cyclones, earthquakes, blizzards, smallpox, yellow fever, gout and indigestion that this great U.S. has known or ever will know. In other words, it has got Hell backed up in the corner yelling for ice water.
